WICHITA MARKETS.

The supply of hogs today was only about half as large as yesterday, but including the hold-overs from yesterday there were about 2,900 hogs on sale. Eight or ten cars of hogs arrived after 5 o'clock and most of them were sold and weighed up. In fact everything sold that was offered. The local packers took all the packers' grades, nearly 2,500 hundred in all. The market opened weak at $3.45, a few loads of rather choice hogs selling at $3.47% and some of the late sales up to 5 o'clock were at $3.42%. On arrival of stock after that hour Dold's buyer stepped in and purchased ten car loads at $3.45, which was 256c better than the low point of the day. Bulk of packers and Mexico's at $3.45. Pigs and lights at $3.4234(63.47)4. The market closed firm.

& Physician Induses the Idea That Amber Beads Prevent Throat Treable. The notion that amber possesses curative properties, and that strings of smber boads worn around the neck will prevent or cure curtain discusse, is probably generally looked upon as a superation of imaginative minds. But a recent statement of Dr. St. Clair, of Brooklyn, in The Medical Sunmany, gives quite an air of fact to the idea He writes:

"That mild currents of electricity are good for the throat and its own peculiar diseases is clearly shown by the string of amber beads. It is a fact that in a string of beads there is a current of static or fric-tional electricity constantly pushing that will be shown by the milliampers meter. will be shown by the milliampers meter. Amber was the electron of the Greeks, and Amber was the electron of the Greeks, and is truly electric. My daughter, when a child, was constantly trullied with talse croup. I trist every known method of relief and at last placed a string of large amber beads around her neck. From that day she had no trouble for at least three years, till, thinking she had outgrown the trouble, they were left off, and inside of two weeks she had the croup as bad as ever. The beads were again worn, and she has never had a return of the distressing disease since. I know of many cases in my own practice, and others in the hands disease since. I know of many cases in my own practice, and others in the hands of brother practitioners, that amber worn around the neck proved of great benefit. Dealars tell me they always make large quantifies of amber beads to suit the pockets of all, knowing the doctors will order some one to buy them for throat troubles, and that they sell thousands o. strings." strings.

Heart Pallure.

It would seem that recently an unusua number of doeths among eminent men have been attributed by the physicians to "heart failure." Some one commenting on this pronounces the phrase correct, but not very satisfactory. When death comes the heart surely fulls. It is the forerunner of dissolution in all cases. Says an arm. of dissolution in all cases. Says an emi-nent thinker and writer: "The heart having beaten unceasingly for, say, seventy years, at the rate of sixty-five to seventy five beats each infaute of that time, sud dealy finds its supply cut off and stops its pulsations, and the owner of that heart be

"I am suffocating," said Dr. Bucking-ham a few moments before he died.
"What shall I do?" was the inquiry of the attending physician. "Nothing," was the reply. "The heart has failed. I am dy-ing." In ten minutes the noble gentleman and skillful physician was a corpse. Sev-enty odd years had that heart done duty, but now must step and did.

"But," it is frequently asked, "what causes heart failure?" and this question has not yet been satisfactorily answered. It may be old age, la grippe, apoplexy, paralysis, exhausted vital energy, loss of sleep, nervous prostration or softening of

The juice of the watermelen has long been known among southern girls as a beautifier of the complexion. It is said that after a long drive or summer outing few things are more soothing to the face and hands than the water from both the pulp and rind. The first, crashed by dainty hands and rubbed on the face, takes off all sunburn, while the application of the cool white pulp next to the red meat removes the stickiness and gives a softness to the skin of the melon bather that can be obtained from nothing else.
